Advent denotes the roughly four-week period before Christmas. It begins on the fourth Sunday before Christmas and ends on Christmas day. The term is derived from the Latin word adventus, meaning coming or arrival, and is historically the beginning of the liturgical year for most Christian churches. Historically, devout Christians would fast during this period - a practice known as the Advent Fast.

Various practices became associated with Advent, including lighting an Advent wreath, erecting a Christmas tree, and putting out Christmas decorations.

This year's selection of Advent Calendars also features the first-ever mezcal collection. The Bozal collection showcases mezcals from Oaxaca, Durango, and Guerrero. According to the company, the set includes 24 mini 200ml versions of the label's iconic ceramic bottles.

Also included are two copitas (traditional mezcal drinking vessels) and ceremonial tealights to be lit on the final day in reverence to mezcaleros, and the traditions passed down from one generation to the next. The mezcal advent calendar retails for $1,300.
